Message from the President

Fr Tom Thomas Mangalathil

It's with a heart full of gratitude and hope that I present the annual report of Sangli Mission Society. The year 2024-25 has been a testament to the incredible resilience of the communities we serve and the power of human connection.

As we reflect on the past year, we see more than just numbers and statistics; we see stories. We see the spark in a child's eyes as they gain knowledge and new skills in our schools. We see the quiet dignity of a woman taking her first steps toward financial independence. And we see the comfort and solace we've been able to offer families navigating the difficult journey of living with HIV/AIDS.

Our vision to ensure "life in fullness for all human beings" is a guiding light that inspires every action we take. This past year, our work has been a testament to this vision. Our mission, to "enable the sustainable development of humanity through a process of empowering the less privileged, exploited, weak, marginalized, and downtrodden of the society," has been at the forefront of all our endeavors. We've worked tirelessly to empower communities through education, skill development, and advocacy, ensuring that the most vulnerable have the tools and support they need to secure a dignified life.

As we reflect on these achievements, I am filled with a deep sense of pride and gratitude. These numbers are more than just data points; they represent the lives we have touched and the hope we have rekindled.

Thank you to our dedicated team for their passion and unwavering commitment. Thank you to our partners and supporters, whose generosity makes this work possible. And most importantly, thank you to the communities for their trust and for teaching us the true meaning of resilience.

The journey continues. Let us remain steadfast in our mission and vision, working together to build a world where every person, regardless of their circumstances, can experience life in fullness.

With sincere gratitude and hope,

Fr Tom Thomas Mangalathil

President, Sangli Mission Society

Department of Social and Development Action

Fr Joby Eapen Njallyil

It gives me immense joy to present the highlights of the year 2024–25, a year in which Sangli Mission Society, through its Department of Social Development Action (SDA), continued to walk with the poor, the marginalized, and the vulnerable, striving to transform lives with compassion, dignity, and inclusion.

This year has been marked by transformative impact across multiple fronts—children's education, rehabilitation of PWDs and CWDs, women's empowerment, sustainable livelihoods, health care, and environmental protection. Together with our dedicated staff, volunteers, and the unwavering support of well-wishers, we were able to touch thousands of lives, building pathways of hope and opportunities for a better tomorrow.

We are especially proud to celebrate the Silver Jubilee of Samanvaya, our flagship program for children and persons with disabilities. From a humble beginning with Jeevdan and Anugrha Special Schools in 2000, today Samanvaya has blossomed into a vibrant network of four special schools, one lifelong rehabilitation centre, and multiple CBR initiatives—offering holistic education, vocational training, therapeutic services, life skills, and social inclusion. For 25 years, this mission has been a beacon of compassion and empowerment, weaving children and adults with special needs into the fabric of society with dignity and respect.

Through our women's empowerment program Saksham, more than 8,800 women found strength in Self-Help Groups (SHGs), financial independence, and leadership opportunities. Our HIV/AIDS initiatives—Dilasa and Samagra Care & Support Centres—continued to provide care, dignity, and support to thousands of People Living with HIV, while also breaking stigma and ensuring access to government entitlements. Our skill development, advocacy for government schemes, environmental action through Harita, and health initiatives such as Ayushy have further enriched the lives of countless individuals and families.

Looking ahead, SDA remains deeply committed to its vision of empowerment, inclusion, and justice. We believe that true development is not measured merely in numbers, but in the dignity restored, opportunities created, and hope rekindled in every life we touch.

On behalf of the Department of Social Development Action, I extend my heartfelt gratitude to all our partners, supporters, and community members who walk with us in this journey of compassion. Together, let us continue to light lives and build a future that is inclusive, sustainable, and rooted in love.

Beyond academics, there was a focus on holistic development through cultural events, sports, and community initiatives. The inauguration of the academic year set a purposeful tone, while the Investiture Ceremony instilled leadership values in students. Cel ebrations of diverse festivals and events like World Environment Day highlighted a commitment to cultural unity and global awareness. Investments were also made in the future by upgrading infrastructure with new academic wings and smart boards, creating modern learning environments for all.

A core part of the department's mission is social responsibility. A particular point of pride is the extensive scholarship and financial support programs. This commitment ensures that financial constraints will not hinder a child's access to quality educaton. Through initiatives like blood donation camps and volunteering, students were able to put compassion into action, demonstrating a real-world understanding of service.

The gratitude of the department goes to the dedicated staff and supportive parents. To the students, you are the heart of this mission. Let's continue this journey together, building on successes for a brighter future.

Department of Social and Development Action

The Department of Social and Development Action (SDA) of the Sangli Mission Society embodies its commitment to service. As a beacon of hope and transformation, the SMS serves humanity's most vulnerable populations. Guided by the foundational vision of the SMS it delivers works of mercy through a holistic strategy that integrates charitable, welfare-oriented, developmental, and community-based initiatives, ensuring a lasting and positive impact on the lives of marginalized in the society.

At the heart of SDA's mission is the care and empowerment of children and persons with disabilities. Through its Special School and Community-Based Rehabilitation (CBR) programs, the department nurtures abilities, restores dignity, and ensures inclusion. For families affected by HIV/AIDS, SDA extends both institutional care and home-based support, providing medical, emotional, and social assistance that upholds their right to live with dignity and hope.

Recognizing that true development begins with empowerment, SDA invests heavily in women's advancement. By forming and strengthening Self-Help Groups (SHGs), and offering skill-building and livelihood opportunities, the department enables women to become not only self-reliant but also active contributors to their family's and community's well-being.

SDA also works for the holistic development of children from deprived and marginalized backgrounds. Beyond special initiatives for children with disabilities and children living with HIV, it organizes tuition centres, Children's Parliaments, Adolescent Groups, and Yoga Clubs. These initiatives nurture academic growth, leadership, creativity, and physical well-being, shaping children into confident individuals prepared for a brighter future.

The department also recognizes the urgent need to safeguard the environment and promote sustainable living. In partnership with Panchayati Raj Institutions (PRIs) and like-minded NGOs, SDA champions alternative energy solutions, organic farming, agro-based innovations, and biodiversity conservation.

In every initiative, SDA reflects its deep commitment to human dignity, environmental stewardship, and sustainable development. By combining compassion with innovation, the department not only addresses immediate needs but also lays the foundation for a future that is just, inclusive, and resilient.

Aastha: Empowering for Integration and Inclusion

The second phase of Project AASTHA, initiated on July 1, 2023, is a strategic response to the post-pandemic rehabilitation challenges faced by vulnerable populations. Grounded in a Community-Based Rehabilitation (CBR) framework, the project is dedicated to empowering persons with disabilities and marginalized children directly within their communities across four talukas of Sangli district, Maharashtra. Our core mission is to bridge existing service gaps, foster deep-rooted inclusivity, and champion the rights of every child.Our strategy this year was multi-faceted. To cultivate leadership and essential life skills, we established Children's Parliaments and Adolescent Groups at the village, block, and district levels. We addressed educational disparities by providing specialized tuition upport for children marginalized by low academic performance, caste, or illness. For severely disabled children and their families, we introduced targeted programs including counselling, yoga, and awareness campaigns to enhance their psychosocial well-being.

Recognizing that child empowerment requires a stable familyenvironment, the project also focused on socio-economic upliftment through skill development and support for income-generating activities. We actively strengthened the fabric of the community by collaborating with duty bearers, reinforcing the capacity of Community-Based Organizations (CBOs) and Disabled Peoples' Organizations (DPOs) to advance social inclusion. Despite the sad loss of two children with disabilities and the relocation of three others, our commitment remains unwavering. The project has successfully reached a wide and diverse demographic, ensuring that support extends to scheduled caste and tribe families, pregnant women, and nursing mothers, thereby building a resilient and equitable future for all.

Dilasa: A Beacon of Hope for Those Affected by HIV/AIDS

The Sangli Mission Society began its work for individuals infected and affected by HIV/AIDS in the early 1990s. This initiative took a more structured form in 2004 under the name DILASA, meaning "solace" or "comfort." Today, the program serves People and Children Living with HIV (PLHIV) through two key approaches: Dilasa Bhavan (Institution-Based Rehabilitation - IBR) and SMS Vihaan CSC (Community-Based Rehabilitation-CBR), providing comprehensive care, support, and empowerment.

- Providing Holistic Care and Support – Ensuring the well-being of People Living with HIV (PLHIV) by offering medical assistance, psychological support, education, and rehabilitation services.
- Reducing Stigma and Discrimination – Creating a more inclusive society by fostering empathy, promoting acceptance, and breaking the social taboos surrounding HIV/AIDS.
- Raising Awareness and Educating Communities – Conducting awareness campaigns, workshops, and outreach programs to inform the public about HIV prevention, treatment, and the rights of PLHIV.
- Facilitating Access to Government Welfare Schemes – Assisting individuals in availing benefits from various government programs to improve their healthcare, financial stability, and social security.
- Enhancing The Quality of Life – Empowering PLHIV with dignified living conditions, vocational training, and opportunities for self-sufficiency, enabling them to lead fulfilling and productive lives.

Dilasa: A Beacon of Hope for Those Affected by HIV/AIDS

Dilasa Bhavan, Miraj

Dilasa Bhavan operates on the model of Institution-Based Rehabilitation (IBR), providing a nurturing and secure environment for boys affected by HIV/AIDS. It functions as a residential care centre for children who have lost one or both parents to the disease. At Dilasa Bhavan, the boys receive comprehensive support, including education, medical care, nutritious meals, regular health monitoring, and safe accommodation—all offered completely free of cost.

The centre ensures that the children not only have access to academic opportunities but also grow in a caring, family-like atmosphere that fosters resilience and hope for a brighter future. At present, 14 boys reside at the centre, receiving dedicated support from a team of 12 compassionate staff members, who work tirelessly to address their physical, emotional, and educational needs.

Saksham : Empowering Women

Saksham, the flagship women's empowerment program of the Sangli Mission Society (SMS), is committed to promoting economic independence, social dignity, and self-reliance among women. Implemented across 95 villages in two districts of Maharashtra, the initiative focuses on transforming women's lives by creating opportunities for financial stability, leadership, and entrepreneurship.

At the core of Saksham is the formation and strengthening of Self-Help Groups (SHGs), which serve as platforms for collective growth, mutual support, and financial inclusion. Through these SHGs, women are able to save, access credit, and initiate small-scale enterprises, paving the way toward economic self-sufficiency.

In addition, Saksham offers a variety of skill development programs designed to enhance entrepreneurial abilities, vocational skills, and financial literacy. These trainings enable women to actively participate in income-generating activities, fostering a self-sustaining and resilient society where women emerge as change-makers within their communities.

Through Saksham, SMS envisions a future where every woman is equipped with the knowledge, confidence, and resources to shape her own destiny, thereby contributing to the creation of a more equitable and prosperous society.

Inspiring Journeys

Ritika's Journey of Hope

Sandgewadi, a small village in Palus Taluka, may seem ordinary at first glance, but for one little girl, it became the place where hope was reborn.Ritika Kiran Dandavate was born into a humble family. Her father worked long hours at a petrol pump, while her mother devoted her time to caring for Ritika and her younger brother. Life was difficult enough, but Ritika's condition made it even harder. She could not sit, walk, or even speak. Her father tried everything—endless hospital visits, costly medicines, and treatments that offered no results. Slowly, despair crept into their home, and the family's dreams for Ritika began to fade.Then came a turning point—the Aastha Project. Through its Community-Based Rehabilitation program, a team of therapists and educators visited Ritika at home. They did not just bring therapy; they brought compassion, encouragement, and hope. Ritika's parents, once exhausted and disheartened, found strength in their guidance. With regular physiotherapy, speech therapy, and special education, Ritika began to change. The little girl who once lay motionless started trying to sit, balance, and even stand with support. Her drooling reduced, her alertness grew, and her sweet voice—once silent—began to form words: "papa, mama, dada." For her family, these were not just words, but miracles.Joy slowly returned to their home. Her parents, once hesitant to take her outside, now proudly bring her along to markets, pilgrimages, and family gatherings. Ritika plays with her younger brother, responds with gestures, and fills the house with laughter. The father who once spent most of his income on hospitals now works with peace of mind, while the mother glows with pride at her daughter's progress.Today, Ritika is not just learning to live—she is teaching her family the true meaning of resilience and love. Her story shines as proof that with the right support, even the smallest steps can become milestones of transformation.Her parents, with folded hands and grateful hearts, say it best: "The Aastha Project has not only changed Ritika's life, it has changed ours too."

A Stitch in Time Brings Security

Mrs. Vijaya Mayur Khade, from Kavalapur in Miraj Taluka, Sangli, is a proud member of the Bhimai Mahila Bachat Gat. She lives with her husband, Mayur, who worked as a driver, and their two sons. Their middle-class life was modest but secure, supported solely by Mayur's income. However, Vijaya longed to share the responsibility and contribute to her family's financial well-being. Skilled in stitching clothes, she dreamt of starting her own tailoring work. But the lack of money for a sewing machine held her back. That dream became reality when, through her Self-Help Group and Sangli Mission Society, she received financial support of ₹10,000 under the IGP (Income Generation Program). With this, she purchased her very own sewing machine. Today, Vijaya stitches blouses, dresses, bags, and also provides saree pico-fall services. Her tailoring business now brings in a steady income, meeting household needs and supporting her children's education. With joy and pride, Vijaya says that being able to help Mayur in running the house has not only eased financial burdens but also strengthened her confidence and dignity.

Inspiring Journeys

Turning Grief into Strength

In Kavalapur, lives the inspiring story of Mrs. Ashatai Uttam Gaikwad, a member of the Shyamali Women's Self-Help Group for the past three years. Life dealt Ashatai a harsh blow when her husband passed away from heart disease, leaving her as the sole caretaker of her two children, both pursuing higher education.

The household's situation was dire, but Ashatai refused to give in to despair. With support from Sangli Mission Society, her SHG received financial assistance of ₹1 lakh. From this, Ashatai took ₹70,000 and purchased a cow.

Her decision changed everything. The cow produces around 10 liters of milk daily, and through regular sales, Ashatai earns a consistent income. The steady milk bill each month has brought relief and stability to her home.

What was once a desperate situation has now turned into a story of resilience and self-reliance. Ashatai not only secures her family's livelihood but also serves as an example of how women can turn grief into strength through determination and the right support.

Success Through Bangles and Belief

Mrs. Noorjaha Chansahab Nadaf of Manerajuri, Taluka Tasgaon, has been a member of Shikoba Mahila Bachat Gat for the past seven years. Living in a small family setup, Noorjaha had been running a modest bangle business from home. Local women loved buying from her, but due to lack of capital, she was unable to expand. Shortage of stock often forced customers to leave empty-handed. Everything changed when the Sangli Mission Society extended financial assistance of ₹1 lakh to her SHG. With a loan from the group, Noorjaha was able to expand her bangle business and stock a wide variety of products. Guided by the organization, she also learned proper banking and financial management, which boosted her confidence. Today, her shop is thriving, her family's financial situation has improved, and her social standing has grown stronger.With gratitude, Noorjaha acknowledges the organization's role in transforming her small home-based trade into a flourishing business. Her journey proves that with the right support and determination, even a simple bangle business can sparkle into success.

The Aastha Community-Based Rehabilitation (CBR) Project works to empower persons with disabilities by opening doors to sustainable livelihoods. For Rishikesh Suryawanshi from Padmale village, this began with a job placement at SFC Mall, Sangli. But his journey didn't stop there. While working, Rishikesh's hidden passion for music and acting emerged. His natural talent, noticed by colleagues and his employer, soon became a source of admiration. They informed it to the SMS and we helped him to connect him with a music producer. His friends going beyond professional support, encouraged him, , and even helped financially.

This led to a life-changing moment—Rishikesh recorded his first music album. For him, it was more than a dream come true; it was a new identity built on confidence, creativity, and recognition. Rishikesh's story reflects the true spirit of empowerment: when opportunities are given, hidden abilities blossom—transforming not just one life, but inspiring many.

Inspiring Journeys

From Fields to Financial Freedom:

Saraswati SHG: Voices of Change in Bisur, a quiet farming village in Miraj Taluka, saw a new dawn in 2017 with the arrival of the Aastha Project. Until then, women worked endlessly in the fields but were never recognized beyond their labor. Aastha changed that—by giving them not just awareness, but a platform to discover their strength. Fifteen determined women came together to form the Saraswati Mahila Bachat Gat. What began as small savings soon became a journey of confidence, sisterhood, and independence. Meetings at each other's homes turned into spaces of joy and learning—where women shared tea, laughter, and life's struggles. They mastered banking, managed accounts, and supported one another with small loans for children's education, farming, and weddings—at just 2% interest. They proudly avoided moneylenders, proving to themselves and others that they could stand on their own feet. with Aastha's guidance, they trained in tailoring, spice-making, detergent preparation, and small businesses like buffalo farming. Slowly, incomes grew, loans were repaid, and respect followed. Their voices, once unheard, began to matter in family decisions. Last year, when the group completed five successful years, each woman took home nearly ₹20,000 from their savings. Yet instead of ending, they chose to begin again—stronger, wiser, and more united. The women of Saraswati SHG now say with pride:"Aastha didn't just save us from debt—it gave us confidence, identity, and respect."
